From the Western Democrat.

The Irish Potato—Its Origin, with Hints Upon its Proper Culture.

The history of the Irish, or common potato, (Solanum tuberosum) since its discovery as an edible root, until the present time, is invested with considerable interest. To elucidate this statement, it is proposed, in the present communication, to point out briefly a few facts connected with its early introduction, dispersion over the civilized world, and best mode of cultivation not generally known.

The Potato belongs to an extremely valuable and extensive natural order of plants, species of which are found in all parts of the world, except the frigid zone. The first definite account of the Potato is by P. Cieca in his "Chronicles of Peru," in 1553. He says, the natives of Peru have, besides Maize or Indian Corn, a tuberular root they call Papas. Some confusion has arisen among early writers by confounding this with the Batatas, or sweet Potato (Bodulis) which belongs to a very different order of plants. After this it is noticed by Gomara in 1554, and by Cardan in 1557. It is usually stated that the Potato was carried to England from the coast of North Carolina by some of the returning adventurers under Sir Walter Raleigh in 1586; but this is not satisfactorily ascertained. It is probable the Indians, from whom we derived our first knowedge of nearly all the alimentary and medicinal properties of American plants now in use, cultivated the Potato prior to Raleigh's expedition of discovery. It is known a considerable coasting trade was carried on at that time between the Indians and the Spaniards of the West Indies. Foreign vessels also occasionally visited our shores for the purpose of exchanging their commodities for those of the New World, then rapidly rising into estimation. But whether the Potato was transported across the ocean by some of Raleigh's followers, or by other parties connected with coasting vessels, it certainly had a rapid dispersion over Europe, and attracted much curious attention.

In an old "History of Plants," by Bauhin, published in 1690, may be found the first accurate description of the Potato, which he informs us was then cultivated in Italy. In another old work, Gerard's "Herbal," published in 1597, he speaks of receiving Potatoes from "Virginia," which then included North Carolina. We are also informed that in 1588, P. de Sivry sent Clusius, Professor of Botany at Leyden, two tubers which were carefully cultivated, and from the grown plants, Clusius described and gave the first representation of the Potato in 1599. Upwards of half a century ago the Potato was found in its wild state by Humboldt, and since that time by other botanists, of the best quality, near Bogota, a city of New Granada, situated upon the mountains, 8,500 feet above the level of the sea. In the same locality were also found cabbage, nasturtium, several varieties of pepper, &c., which continue to grow, with little interruption, throughout the year. The thermometer, it is said, never rises above 84 degrees, nor sinks to the freezing point. The Potato has been discovered in Peru; and on nearly all the elevated table lands of South America some of its species may be found, including that valuable esculent the Tomato (S. lycopersicum) now so extensively used in the United States as an article of food, and believed to have a corrective agency over the biliary system. It will thus be seen that the specific title, Irish, is a misnomer; it should more appropriately be called the American, or common Potato, as, we find, has been done in some of the volumes of the Patent Office Reports. But the adjective Irish is, perhaps, too firmly fixed to be easily removed. In the moist, cool, and moderate climate of Ireland it finds a soil peculiarly adapted to its profitable growth. If it is true, "the rose will smell as sweet with any other name," then surely we can enjoy the exquisite luxury of eating a healthy, mealy Potato, notwithstanding it may bear, in part, a brogwish appellation. Besides the uses of the common Potato as an article of food, the stalks furnish a large quantity of potash, and it is believed, if they were appropriated to this manufacture, they would contribute greatly towards supplying the demands of commerce.

From the preceding remarks we learn that the Potato is indigenous to mountainous, tropical localities, and flourishes best in a cool, airy, uniform atmosphere. It is for this that the Potato has been found to grow well in Iceland, and even in portions of Siberia. In its culture we should endeavor to imitate artificially its natural requirements. It requires more air, moisture and coolness than most other tropical plants for its full development. To secure this vigorous condition of the plant, it is advisable, in all situations remote from the mountains or alpine latitudes, and where the heat of the sun becomes intense, to adopt a mode of treatment similar to the following, to be modified, or improved upon, as experience may suggest to the intelligent observer:

Break up the ground thoroughly in January, then lay it off into rows about two feet apart, open these with a small plow, and partially fill the drills with manure, stirring into it, at the same time, all the leached ashes that can be possibly procured. Wheat bran, from the gluten which it contains, is an excellent, mild fertilizer. All the hair, from the killing of hogs, should also be carefully saved and scattered in the drills. Then divide the large Potatoes, plant them with the cut face down, and cover lightly with earth. At the first planting which, in the Southern States, is generally in winter, in order to obtain an early crop, it is not advisable to cover the ground heavily with leaves or straw, as it is still cold, and needs the warmth of the sun's rays to stimulate vegetation. After the plants have come up, and attained the hight of five or six inches, the whole surface should be more abundantly covered with leaves, carefully working them around the tender plants with the fingers or rake, and pressing them down. At subsequent plantings, as the warm season advances, a more early and abundant application of leaves should be made. The leaves, straw, or other covering material, may be held to their place by a layer of green pine tops, which prevents the wind from blowing them away, and still further assists in maintaining the soil in that state of moisture and coolness so essential to the vigorous and profitable growth of the Potato. By pursuing this mode of cultivation we will succeed, under ordinary circumstances, in raising as large tubers as ever grew in the mountains, or "auld Ireland" itself. The Potato now ranks as an article of food in the United States, next in importance to corn and wheat, and is rapidly extending its superiority over other coarser alimentary substances in almost every portion of the civilized world. The mountains of North Carolina are peculiarly adapted to the successful growth of the Potato. The soil is there sufficiently cool and moist, without any artificial covering for the production of large and remunerative crops. In warmer localities we must consult the native habits, and produce the proper degree of coolness and moisture, as previously indicated, to exclude the scorching rays of the sun. If our efforts are thus directed, we may always expect in a good soil, and ordinary season, a vigorous growth and profitable yield of this mountainous, tropical plant. The root crops should receive a more enlarged cultivation in the South, and there is no one of this class of vegetables so well repays a little extra trouble and pains-taking as the common Potato.

SUBSCRIPTION.—The terms of subscription have been made so low and reasonable as to place it within the reach of all who may desire it; and in view of the great interests to be served by an extensive circulation, we confidently expect the hearty co-operations of many in those sections of the country not now supplied with a good Agricultural Journal.

TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION:—For a single copy one year, $1.00.

CLUB RATES:—Five copies one year for $3.00; ten copies one year for $25.00; fifteen copies one year for $37.00; twenty copies one year for $49.00; twenty-five copies one year for $60.00; and larger clubs in the same proportion.

To secure the advantages of these liberal terms, the clubs must be complete at the time of subscription, and the money accompany the order.

It is not required that all the subscribers to a club shall receive THE FARMER at one office. If necessary it will be mailed under the club arrangement to as many different offices as there are subscribers to the club.

THE SENTINEL.

SEATON GALES. }

Saturday Evening, Jan. 19, 1867.

Have we a Republic?

Mr. Thaddeus Stevens is reported to have said, the other day, that this government never was a Republic; that Pennsylvania is not a Republican State, and he called upon Congress to make her one. According to Mr. Stevens, a State or government cannot be a Republic, unless the negroes have political power in it. If this be so, Pennsylvania never can be. No Northern State can be. The number of colored persons in any of the Northern States is so small, that if all of them, men, women and children, were enfranchised, they would be as destitute of political power as they are at present. In no single township in the North are the blacks in sufficient numbers, in a political contest between black and white, to be felt.—Hence, on Mr. Stevens' idea, there is no possibility of making Republics out of them. It is only in the South, where the blacks are so numerous, so ignorant, so lazy and so poor, that there is any hope for really Republican States, on his system. But, after all, is not Mr. Stevens mistaken? Is not his scheme nothing else but a revival of the old progressive Democracy? He despises Democrats and Democracy—hates Copperheads and Conservatism, yet, under the cover of Republicanism, he is endeavoring to foist upon the country an impure Democracy—admitting every one to vote, except those who are intelligent enough to know how to vote and how to govern the country. He goes a bow-shot beyond the old Democrats, who never dreamed of placing suffrage in the hands of semi-civilized men.

Manufacture of Cotton.

The North in general, and New England in particular, have been made immensely rich by the manufacture of cotton. The South, hitherto, has derived but little profit from it, more because of the small amount of funds invested in the business, and because it has confined itself to the manufacture of coarse fabrics, than from any other cause.

We have the raw material on the spot, which may pass directly from first hands to the manufacturer without the expense of freight, commission, &c. Labor can be procured as cheap as, or cheaper than, in the North. The transportation of the manufactured article would be less than that of the crude, and would be able to compete in the markets of the world with the Northern.

All that is needed, to be an equal competitor in the market with the Northern manufacturer, is the capital, the machinery, and the skill and energy in the management. If capital is scarce, the combination of the small capital of the many will do as well as the large capital of the few. The capital will purchase the machinery, not at the North, but for the same money, where the Northern manufacturer buys his machinery.—Factory sites and facilities are more abundant in the South than at the North. And the skill and energy we have at home.

What hinders the South from entering the field of competition in the manufacture of cotton, with her Northern brethren? We see no impediment that cannot be easily overcome.—We must lay aside our narrow views of policy and enterprise. We must not be content with spinning yarn, and making brown sheeting and osnaburgs alone, when we can with a little more capital make calicoes and ginghams and fine sheetings, &c. The profits on the coarser products of the factory have always been small, and the future promises less. The freedmen have laid aside homespuns and domestics, as well as the whites. The demand for coarse goods and stripes has nearly played out. We must strike for a higher class of goods, and we must introduce the higher classes of machinery. The sooner our people open their eyes to this, the sooner they will wake up to the reality.—Let them contrast the profits of the Southern warp maker, or the brown sheeting and osnaburg and stripe maker, with the Northern print and gingham makers—the makers of fine sheeting and shirting with those of the South. The difference is almost incredible.

Let the South then resolve no longer to play the laggard in this enterprise. Our capital is small, and will continue to be small, so long as we employ it in vocations which yield 5, 6, 8, 10 and 15 per cent. which bring them 20, 50, 80 and 100 per cent. Let us learn to look ahead—plan well, work hard, execute skillfully, and the thing is done.

Hon. Lewis Hanes, writing to his paper from Washington, expresses the opinion that the faction in North Carolina "will yet be disappointed in their pet scheme of re-organizing the State government, in order that power may be lodged in their own hands."

We have much information to the same effect. In view of the recent decision of the Supreme Court, and for other reasons, the Congress will not pass, by anything like a two-thirds vote, either of the territorializing projects. This we regard as certain. Our people may take hope. The malignant traitors in this State are destined to the bitterest disappointment they have yet experienced.

Our Ex. P. G. is in a forlorn condition. The "Southern Republican Association," at Washington, as announced by telegraph, on yesterday, have given him the "unkindest cut of all." In the scheme of re-organization which they have prepared, and design urging upon the adoption of Congress, they declare that no man shall be eligible to the office of Governor, "who signed any ordinance of secession." This looks intentional and pointed. Well may the Ex. P. G. exclaim:

"Call you this backing your friends?
A plague upon such backing!"

Judge Shipp is holding a special term of Guilford Superior Court, the present week.

Holden's Record—After March 4, 1864.

The Standard quotes from the Conservative, of Sept. 28, 1864, to prove that the "rebels" in this State were at that time opposed to peace on the basis of President Lincoln's Proclamation of December, 1863,—which nobody denies.

Here is what Holden himself said on the 14th of September, 1864,—one week before the utterance of the Conservative: Alluding to an article in the Richmond Examiner, charging him with asking the soldiers of North Carolina to give their voice for submission, and to admit that they had been in rebellion against their lawful sovereign, he waxed awfully indignant, as follows:

"The above is horribly false. It is a lie as livid with the malice of hell as any lie that ever came up from the bottomless pit, &c."

Can Holden take the Holden-Pool oath, or the Stevens' oath?

[From the Standard, of July 25, 1864.

"Our people will honor no set of men, who, to gratify their malice or advance their own selfish ends, would degrade the State by making it appear that a large majority of her citizens are traitors, or who would belittle them in the eyes of their co-Confederates and of the world, by producing the impression that she is not in earnest and not honest in the conflict with LINCOLN AND THE ABOLITIONISTS."

Can Holden take the Stevens or the Pool-Holden oath?

The Standard of this morning has the following:

"The Confederate of Aug. 17, 1864, spoke as follows. Gen. Sherman was then thundering at the gates of Atlanta, and the Confederate government was in the very throes of dissolution; yet read what the gallant knight of the goose-quill said on the occasion:

"GEORGIA.—Sherman is losing strength every day by battles, death and desertion, while we are gaining every day. They get no reinforcements and can get none, while we have been heavily reinforced and expecting every day to hear that his lines of communication are cut off. Time is all we want to annihilate Sherman's army, and time he seems disposed to give us.—'Tis strange that he does not attack us, when he must see that his chances of success are daily becoming less and less. Has his courage failed him? Or did he ever have any to fail?"

What monstrous falsehoods! Were people ever before deceived in such a manner?"

The Standard of July 27, 1864, "spoke as follows. Gen. Sherman was then thundering at the gates of Atlanta, and the Confederate government was in the very throes of dissolution; yet read what the gallant knight of the goose-quill (Holden) said on the occasion:"

"The following dispatch from the daily papers contains cheering accounts from our Army in Georgia. We chronicle these results with much pleasure. Atlanta is for the present relieved by the indomitable courage of Gen. Hood and his troops. Hood is a fighting man, but much is no doubt due to the efficient condition in which our army had been placed by the wisdom and skill of his predecessor, Gen. Johnston."

From the Standard of August 3*rd*, 1864.

"The Wilmington Journal is very much exercised over an extra from the Standard office containing tickets for Governor, and an explanation of the rights of voters. The very same article which is in this extra has appeared in the editorial columns of the Standard, word for word, but the Journal is careful not to state this fact. The Journal thinks we must prefer Abraham Lincoln to Jefferson Davis. We have as deep an interest in the Confederate Government as the Journal has, and we are as hostile to Abraham Lincoln as any reasonable man ought to be. IF WE LIVED IN THE UNITED STATES, we would support and encourage such PATRIOTS as Vallandigham and Pierce, and we would do all we could to rescue the Federal Constitution from the grasp of those who would destroy it and the liberties of the people of that section.—We believe in Constitutional liberty without regard to sections or men. We can assure the Journal, if such assurance be necessary, that we are no Jefferson Davis man, and that we are opposed to Mr. Davis's administration because we ARE ATTACHED TO OUR GOVERNMENT." &c.

We especially commend the foregoing elegant extract to the attention of Mr. Stevens, Mr. Wade, Mr. Ashley, and others. They will doubtless ask, as we are constrained to do again:

Can Mr. Holden take the Stevens or the Pool-Holden oath?

More anon. But we cannot better conclude our extracts for to-day than by paraphrasing, to a certain extent, the terse and emphatic language of our neighbor. Thusly, as Mr. Billings would say:

"It is not, without sufficient reasons, that we refer to the past and call up the RECORD of this leader of the Rebellion—his vile and infamous denunciations of Union men and of the national government, &c. &c. We shall not rely upon Union men or Union presses to substantiate the treasonable utterances and actions. We shall refer to his own press, speeches, addresses and official documents, written and spoken when he claimed to be free and independent, and was free in thought and action; and exercised that freedom, in the most unlicensed manner, by murdering, insulting and conscripting Union men. &c."

"We advise every Union man to read these extracts to his neighbors, and preserve the papers containing them."

Our cotemporary, the Henderson Index, notices the conduct of a young man in that place, whose gyrations indicated that he was a swindler. If he is the person we suppose he is, his conduct would be easily explained by consulting Dr. Fisher, of the N. C. Institution for the Insane. A young man, of the name given by the Index, who, by the way, has seen better days, was an inmate of that Institution upon the arrival of Gen. Sherman's army here, and was turned loose by the military, we learn, upon the representation he made, that he had been placed there for his Union sentiments.—There was no truth in it, of course, but there was about as much truth in that statement, as in the thousand assertions made by so-called Union men in this State, that they are persecuted for their Union sentiments. The young man, we judge, is more an object of pity than of censure—and, perhaps, it may be so with the so-called Union men!

Webster's Spelling Book.—We observe that President Swain's third letter has driven Holden to his horn book, Old Noah Webster's Elementary. We have hope of Holden yet.

For the Sentinel.

Epistolary.

Messrs. Editors.—The public have waited, with some curiosity, to see what reply the Senior Editor of the Standard would give to his lady correspondent, "Margaretta." We judge, from her letter, that she is a poor widow, sitting beside a "cheerless hearth." Surely such an appeal deserved a reply. The language, though somewhat vehement, is certainly respectful. She addressed the "Editors," jointly; evidently intending to avoid offensive personality, but when she came to the "gist of the matter," the true woman burst out,—thou art the man! She could no longer veil her design. She remembered that it was the Senior Editor who "had been always a secessionist," who had "always advocated the doctrine of secession;" and, with the finger of scorn in his face, the lady exclaims, "Oh! secessionist, what hast thou done? Would that I could speak to thee in thunder tones! Hadst thy heart been anything but adamant, and mind anything but insane, our husbands would not have been torn away from their happy homes, from weeping wives and children," &c.

It is passing strange that this lady's letter was not answered privately, and assurances given her, mildly, of very great sympathy with her in a distress which is very general—which none of us intended—for which the Senior Editor should not alone be blamed, as there were some at his side as guilty as he; and very many who followed his lead, and partook of his guilt, though of course not to be blamed to the same extent. If this letter in reply had been courteously written, containing an offer to send her ten loads of wood, a hundred pounds of bacon or pork, and $50 in greenbacks, as a poor compensation for the griefs he had unwittingly caused her,—the best he could do just at present,—and had also contained the assurance that she might hereafter call upon him in her distress, even to his last dollar, it would have been probably what the lady wished and expected. It was wrong, cruelly and shamefully wrong, to parade her distress in a public print. If she is a white lady, she is entitled to common respect, and the Senior Editor should not suppose that the new and interesting people with whom he consorts, would respect him the less, or be the less likely to give him their votes, if he should show some politeness towards the race he has abandoned,—especially the ladies. He has much to learn from his new companions. He will learn, before long, that they approve good manners, towards the ladies at least, and practice them, too, in their own simple and hearty way. Not one of them would publish in a newspaper a private note sent to him by one of the fair sex. Handy Locket would have scorned the act. So would several others, respectable freedmen whom I could mention. X.

Murder in Chatham County.

Egypt, Chatham Co., N. C., Jan. 12.

Dear Sir: Knowing the interest you take in procuring news, I send you an account of a most atrocious murder which took place in this county on last Friday evening, near Rocky river, about three miles from this place, on the person of Mr. John A. Johnson, an old and much respected citizen of the county. Mr. Johnson had been to a sale near Deep River, and while there was paid some money, about three hundred dollars. He started home towards evening, and when within a short distance from his house, was knocked from his horse. The horse ran home, arriving there between sunset and dark, and one of the neighbors being there, and fearful of an accident having happened to the old man, got on the horse and started up the road to find him. He was horrified to find him lying in the road not quite dead, with his skull broken in two places. The gentleman who went to find him, saw, on his approach to where the body laid, two negro men running away. Mr. Johnson was carried to his house, but was dead by the time he reached there. There being snow on the ground, and assistance being procured, the negroes were tracked and arrested in less than one hour after the deed was committed.—One of them, named Bill, had formerly belonged to Mr. J., and lived in a cabin on his place. He was arrested sitting by the fire in his cabin, trying to rub the blood off his shoes and clothes. The pocket book and money was found in a chink in his cabin. He made a full confession and told where to find the money. The other negro, who was named Henry, formerly belonged to one of the neighbors, denies any participation in the murder, but Bill's confession implicates him. They are both in Pittsboro' jail.—Mr. Johnson was between 60 and 70 years of age; a most pleasant and affable gentleman, who was noted as a kind master and a good neighbor. I am glad to say that the negroes generally in this section have behaved well, and seem to be very much incensed against the authors of this deed.—Correspondent Pet. Index.

THE IMPEACHMENT.

The Judiciary Committee give out with great curiosity that damning evidence has been discovered against President Johnson. The whole thing is a huge fabrication, concocted to delude the people into suffering them to overset the Executive and Judicary Departments of the Government, that they may the more easily carry out their plans for a minority despotism.

FREE TRANSPORTATION OF FREEDMEN.

Government is not granting free transportation to all the freedmen who choose to leave one portion of the South for another. It has done so in many instances, and is still doing so in certain cases, but the rule is not general, and has just been discovered in the case of a Louisiana planter, who went to Georgia for hands in the supposition that government would transport them free, and was refused the request.

THE WHISKEY TAX.

A heavy pressure is being brought to bear in order to get the Ways and Means Committee to recommend a reduction of the tax on whiskey to half a dollar per gallon.

HUNNICUTT.

The editor of the Richmond New Nation placed in the hands of Judge Kelly this morning, a petition signed by 2,400 loyal citizens of Virginia, praying for a provisional government for that State.—N. Y. Tribune.

DISLOYAL.

At a celebration of the Fourth Presbyterian Church school on Sunday evening, of which the Rev. Dr. John C. Smith is pastor, the Hon. Samuel McKee, member of Congress from Kentucky, was speaking to the school and the teachers, and made an incidental allusion of a kind nature to the colored Sabbath School, of the Fifteenth street Presbyterian Church, of which the Rev. Highland Garnet was lately pastor. A storm of coughs, sneezes, and hisses immediately broke out, and was continued until Col. McKee left the pulpit.—Ib.

Church millinery, now a-days, is thought of such importance by a certain set of clergymen that, instead of the church militant, we fancy they must speak of it as being the church millinery-tant.—Punch.

[From the Old North State.]

Effects of the Holden-Pool Scheme.

We need capital and labor for the development of our resources, and it is clear that as long as our affairs remain unsettled, labor and capital, men and money, will not come to North Carolina. We are suffering immense losses by the postponement of immigration to the State and the tendency to emigration from the State which our unfortunate political situation causes. But will the Holden-Stevens scheme improve our prospects? Will the subjection of a white majority to a negro minority bring about peace and quiet and contentment and stability in our State affairs? We will leave common sense to answer. "But we should be restored to the Union." Doubtless we should; and if this were done under proper auspices it would benefit the State immensely, and give us the influx of immigration we need. But will immigrants come here when North Carolina shall have been Africanized? Will Europeans, with all their prejudices against negro rivalry, come to a State where they must pass through a five years probation before they become the political equal of the negroes? Will Yankees, who refuse to enfranchise the few blacks in their section of the country, come to a State where black voters are more numerous than white? Far from it.—North Carolina will become a political leper, shunned and despised by all people belonging to the Caucasian race. Yankee negroes will flock to her by thousands; and it may chance that a few enterprising natives of Congo or Senegambis, hearing of this grand negro paradise in the western world, may smell their way to our shores. This will be the character and extent of future immigration to North Carolina. Our possessions will become valueless, our Railroads will languish, our fields become deserts, and our civilization perish.

The Confederate Dead.—An association of ladies has been formed in Memphis for the purpose of raising funds to erect at Memphis, or some designated spot, a magnificent church edifice to the memory of the fallen Confederate dead, whose columns and mural tablets shall be inscribed with the names of all such which may be furnished by auxiliary societies throughout the Southern States. The names of the following ladies are on the list of honorary members: Mrs. Jefferson Davis, Mrs. Robert E. Lee, Mrs. Frank P. Blair, Mrs. N. B. Forrest, Mrs. L. M. Keitt, Mrs. Andrew Johnson, Miss Augusta Evans, Mrs. A. Longstreet, and others.

Negro Policemen.—"The great problem of the equality of human rights," as styled by Mr. Sumner, is being practically tested in Washington city, under the impetus given by the passage of the negro suffrage bill. The metropolitan police commissioners have just received an application for a position on the force by a colored man, who is backed by the recommendations of a dozen or more whites. It is stated on good authority that this will be at once followed up by a demand on the part of the black citizens of the District for a proportionate share of the clerkships in the departments, and further that perfect equality as to seats will be insisted upon in the churches and theatres.

An Item for the Bureau.—A gentleman residing ten miles from Newbern, formerly the owner of a considerable number of slaves and other property, and who is not now "so well off as he used to be," was seen yesterday passing down the lower part of Pollok street, with a basket on his arm containing a goodly show of "collards." He was hailed by a friend and asked where he was going with his collards.—The reply was, "there is an old negro woman living in this street who used to belong to me, and I want her to have them." "You have not brought the collards all this distance for her?" was the rejoinder. "Yes, and I have plenty more at home," was the reply. "I reckon she needs them." There is material for a chapter in this incident.—Newbern Commercial.

A Charge to a Jury.—An Indiana justice recently summed up a case in a novel and sprightly style, which astonished his entire auditory. He said: "Gentlemen of the jury, in this case the counsel on both sides are unintelligible, the witnesses on both sides are incredible, and the plaintiff and difendant are both such bad characters, that to me it is indefferent which way you give your verdict."

Geo. W. Wooten and others	Petition for sale of

Heirs at Law of B. F. Wooten, dec'd.	December 28th, 1867.

In this cause, it appearing that Needham Ward, Pleasant Bowden and wife Louisa, the children of Samuel McKenzie and his deceased wife Mary Ward, the children of —— Gillespie and his deceased wife Mary Jones, the children of —— Ross and his dec'd wife Sallie Jones, the children of Josiah Jones, dec'd, the said Mary Gillespie, Sallie Ross and Josiah Jones, being the children of Ella Jones, dec'd., defendants, are non residents of this State, it is therefore ordered that publication be made, for six weeks, in the Raleigh Sentinel, notifying said defendants to appear at the next term of said Court to be held at the Court House in Greenville, on the first Monday of March next, and plead, answer or demur, or said petition will be taken pro confesso and heard accordingly.

THE SENTINEL,

Saturday Evening, Jan. 19, 1867.

LOCAL DEPARTMENT.

THE MESSRS. MCKIMMON announce that they will sell all goods in their large variety at cost prices, and no mistake. Give them a call.

MUNICIPAL.—In summing up, on yesterday, the list of candidates for the office of Commissioner in the various Wards, we inadvertently omitted the name of R. M. Andrews in the Western.

THE MESSRS. TUCKER, it will be seen, are offering, in good faith, their large and valuable stock at cost, with a view to disposing of it before occupying their splendid new Store. They expect to have it ready for their reception by the first of April, when they wish to have "all things new."

CITY SCHOOLS.—We have no public or charity school in operation in the City for our poor white children. Northern charity opens schools for colored children, and it would go further and allow white children to go to these schools, where the colored children are taught, but we believe that none of our whites are so poor that they are willing to consent to that arrangement.

We ought to have four charity schools, located properly, in the city, for our poor white children. We hope the Legislature will authorize the towns, cities, and counties to establish the schools, and tax them for their support, where the people are willing to incur the expense.

In this city, if a proper tax was laid, we believe we are able to support four schools, which would accommodate all the white children who would go. These could be taught by well qualified female teachers. The whole expense could be paid by taxing every gallon of spirituous liquors, wine, ale, lager beer &c., 5 cts per gallon, sold in the city; also every pound of tobaco 5 cts., and every pound of candy 5 cts., &c., &c.

ENLARGEMENT.—Our purpose was to enlarge the Sentinel, on Tuesday next, but the recent severe weather, or some other cause, has delayed the arrival of the material necessary for it. The enlargement will be made in a few days, however.

SOUTHERN EXPRESS.—We regret to learn that the Southern (or Adams) Express is doing no business on the North Carolina Rail Road.—The charges of the Road, we learn, are so high that the Express cannot run over it. We presume the Road undertakes to do the business itself.

If the Southern Express Company has shown a disposition to monopolize everything, and put a heavy burden upon the public by extortion, the Rail Roads, for the relief of the people, might with propriety come in to protect the public; but if the Express Company is disposed to do a legitimate business, and to make only reasonable charges, we doubt the propriety of interfering with its business. The Rail Roads can only promote their own interests by securing the accommodation of the public.

The Express Company, by its promptness and reliability, has made itself a necessity to the public. Its large capital, and the readiness with which it pays all losses, have secured the public confidence. For this reason, the public cannot sanction any attempt, on the part of the Rail Roads, to interfere with the legitimate business of the Express Company. If, however, the Express Company is oppressive in its charges, the Rail Roads will be fully sustained in adopting legitimate measures to protect the public against extortion.

THE N. C. Railroad is building a fine Depot at Greensboro', for the use of that Company.—The Piedmont Railroad will use the old depot.

THE Greensboro' Patriot compliments Mr. P. H. Adams, of that place, just admitted to County Court practice. There are a number of promising men in the last class.

WE REGRET to learn of the sudden death of Mr. Jed. H. Lindsay, of Greensboro', on Saturday last.

RADICALS TO BE HAD CHEAP.—A correspondent at High Point, says: "I have for sale, at High Point, N. C., a small lot of Radicals. I offer them at auction. They are the prettiest set of radicals ever seen. I will ensure that there cannot be a better set found in the Union. They are already organized into a society, so the purchaser would have no trouble with them. Who will give me a bid?—L. L."

EPISCOPAL METHODIST.—We have received the first number of this paper, just issued in this city, by Rev. W. H. Cunninggim, Publisher, and Rev. H. T. Hudson, Editor. It will be published weekly at $3. It is printed on new type and good paper, and the selections and editorials are in good taste. We believe several good writers will contribute regularly to its columns. The "Episcopal Methodist" is much needed by the denomination in this State. Every minister and member should interest hiself in its circulation.

Gov. Swann, it is said, will be elected to the U. S. Senate from Maryland.

The Legislature of Maine has ratified the amendment.

Horace Greeley in Washington—The Speeches in the House To-day—Flutter Among the Radicals—Mr. Randall's Banking Measure—Return of Senator Wilson—The Bills for Admitting Nebraska and Colorado—The Control of the Government Patronage.

[Correspondence of the Baltimore Sun.]

WASHINGTON, Jan. 16.—Hon. Horace Greeley, with his wife and daughter, arrived in town last night, and will lecture to-morrow night before the Young Men's Christian Association. Mr. Greeley was at the capitol to-day, and spent some time in conversation with Senators and members on the floor. John M. Botts and General Sickles were on the floor of the House to-day, and Mr. Greeley had quite a long conversation with the former.

Mr. Greeley also had an interview with the President to-day, of an hour's duration, in which he urged upon Mr. Jonnson the adoption of his (Mr. Greeley's) peculiar political views, especially the amnesty and suffrage proposition.

The severe attack of Mr. Paine, of Wisconsin, upon Mr. Stevens in the House to-day, in which Mr. Stevens was charged as being equally guilty with Mr. Johnson in his treatment of the reconstruction problem, has created a flutter among the Radicals, and is the subject of general conversation to-night, and Mr. Bingham's onslaught upon the Stevens and Ashley territorial bills has created a sensation. It is admitted that Mr. Bingham demolished the theories of Messrs. Stevens and Ashley.

The House committee on banking and currency to-day further considered Mr. Randall's bill creating a sinking fund, and providing for the gradual withdrawal of the national bank circulation, but came to no conclusion. The committee is perfecting this important measure with a great deal of care, and it will give rise to a very marked contest if it ever reach the House.

Senator Wilson has returned from attending the burial of his son, and appeared in his seat to-day.

The bills for the admission of Nebraska and Colorado have now been finally acted upon by both Houses, and will go to the President for his approval or objections. The amendments which have been adopted inposing negro suffrage are acknowledged to be of no effect by many who voted for them. The question of suffrage is left for the Legislatures to decide, a plainly unconstitutional infraction on the peculiar province of the people. It is not likely, however, that any just objection will be made on this score by the friends of the State movement, the matter practically being of no consequence, as there are but a very trifling number of negroes in both Territories.

The chances of the passage of the bills over the President's veto are being discussed with much interest to night, those friendly to them expressing their confidence in a final triumph, although admitting that the contest will be close. The test vote in the Senate to-day (28 to 14) is exactly two-thirds. That in the House yesterday (103 to 55) lacks three of the required number. Those not voting are divided pretty equally in their views, so that, on the veto vote, success may be secured or lost by the presence or absence of one or two members of either house. The bills were signed by the presiding officers of both houses this afternoon, and will be presented to the President to-morrow. The proposition to consolidate in the Senate of the United States entire control over the appointment and removal of the office-holders, and reduce the President to a mere clerk of that body to make out lists, which, under the title of "a bill to regulate the tenure of office," has occupied so much of the time of that august body, was up again to day and discussed until the adjournment.

Mr. Sumner is very anxious to bring under the revision of the Senate the office-holders now appointed by the heads of the departments, including the vast number of officers of the internal revenue.

Mr. Fessenden expressively described this attempt as "running the thing into the ground," and showed conclusively that if the idea of the Massachusetts enthusiastic was carried out, the Senate would have to remain in perpetual session, and consume its whole time in wrangling on the merits and demerits of hordes of petty office-holders. Over one hundred thousand offices all over the country, now under the control of the Secretaries, would come under the provision of Mr. Sumner's proposed amendment, and in a short time, if this be agreed to, he or some one of his party will want also to have the appointment of the twenty-five thousand postmasters now in the gift of the Postmaster General. The bill, as reported by the committee, will probably pass, but the amendment of Mr. Sumner will hardly be adopted.

SENATE.—A communication from Gov. Bramlette, of Kentucky, announcing the rejection of the constitutional amendment; which was laid on the table.

The tenure of office Bill was taken up. Sumner, under license of yesterday's vote, proceeded to denounce the President bitterly.

Reverdy Johnson made the point that Sumner was disqualifying himself from acting in a judicial capacity, should the President come before the Senate for impeachment. [A point well taken.]

The bill was passed, 29 to 12. It excepts Cabinet officers and Judges of the Supreme Court. Other officers shall be appointed as at present and hold until successors are appointed. The President may suspend for misconduct or inability, appointing, temporarily, suitable persons. The President shall furnish the Senate the evidence on which suspension is based. If the suspension is confirmed, new appointments can be made. If otherwise, the suspended officer resumes his functions. The President may fill vacancies from death or resignation to hold till the termination of the next session.—Acceptance of office, removal from office, signing, sealing or counter-signing commissions, contrary to the provisions of the Bill, declared a high misdemeanor, punishable by a fine not exceeding $10,000 and imprisonment not exceeding five years.

Dispatches received here from Frankfort say that another ballot in the Kentucky Legislature resulted as follows: Speed 42, Powell 40, Harding 21, Davis 33.

Another ineffectual ballot has been held at Annapolis.

The President has sent to the House a mass of papers, relative to the July riots. It includes 400 pages of testimony taken by the investigating board. The Board report says that it is by no means their opinion that hostility to Northern Union men prevails, in the community, to the extent of endangering life and property, provided they retrain from freedom of speech on certain subjects. The party that elected Mayor Monroe, and through him control the municipal authorities the board considers thoroughly imbued with a spirit of hostility. The Board exculpates Gen. Baird.—The negro procession was ill-timed and unfortunate, but the board fails to see any evidence of armed organization. The besieged party was totally unarmed. They allude to the brutal treatment of the wounded and prisoners. But for martial law and other military precautions unparallelled outrages would have occurred, &c. &c.,

RAW BONE SUPER-PHOSPHATE OF LIME.

Manufactured under the formula originated in 1824 and patented by

BAUGH & SONS,

SOLE PROPRIETORS, AT THE
Delaware River Chemical Works,
PHILADELPHIA, U. S. A.

This old established MANURE is manufactured from Bones that have not been burned or steamed, and it contains all their original organic matter. It is active in its operation, and is a fertilizer of great durability. It does not exhaust the soil like Peruvian Guano, but on the contrary permanently improves it.

Previous to 1861 it was introduced into the Southern States to considerable extent, and again in 1865, where it has been used with remarkable success upon Cotton, Corn, Tobacco, and all Crops.

A trial will convince any planter of its merits. Pamphlets containing well-known Southern evidence furnished upon application to New York or Philadelphia offices.

TEXAS LAND AGENCY.

W. L. ALEXANDER, QUITMAN, TEXAS,

Attorney-at Law, and Real Estate Agent

For the Purchase and Sale of improved and unimproved Real Estate—perfecting Titles—payment of Taxes, and furnishing such information as may be obtained from Public Records or other sources.

Having traveled extensively in Texas during the last five years, and by close observation having become thoroughly acquainted with the intrinsic value of Lands in Eastern and Middle Texas, I with confidence offer my services to the Public, feeling sure of giving satisfaction.

Now is the most propitious time for those desirous of securing homes in Texas. The best Lands can be bought at astonishingly low rates. We offer improved, and unimproved Lands, situated in the timbered or prairie country. Don't delay till the price of Lands becomes high,—and until the farseeing and enterprising have secured all the best, as regards fertility, convenience to market, abundance of good water and healthful locality.

My fees are moderate, and in proportion to the work required of me.
